

Bombers Roar Far Into Night

Dozen German Rail Junctions Hit—Heavy Jolts Across Strait

LONDON, Sunday, May 28.—(AP)—The great Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive, which sent nearly 6,000 bombers and fighters thundering against Hitler's transportation system yesterday, roared on past midnight with alerts sounding in Berlin and the English shores shaking from violent explosions along the French coast.

The Folkestone area, across the narrow Strait of Dover from France, got one of its greatest joltings of the war—houses shaking, furniture bouncing and doors banging again and again from the vibrations of the cross-channel explosions. Flares and bomb explosion flashes lit the channel sky.

At least 12 important railroad junctions, five airfields, two aircraft repair factories and several railroad bridges were among the targets blasted by well over 6,000 tons of exploding steel.

Some of the attackers encountered opposition while others made their raids unmolested, the U. S. Eighth air force said in announcing that 24 bombers and seven fighters were missing. In addition 11 U. S. medium bombers were lost in other phases of the widespread assault.

At least 49 Nazis planes were shot down in the main attacks by the fleet flying from Britain, bomber gunners claiming 13 and escorting fighters getting 36.

A possibility that the Mediterranean air force was striking into the Balkans at night also was indicated as the Budapest radio left the air before midnight.

Deep Into France

From Britain a force of approximately 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters struck deep into France and Germany in a six-pronged attack on Rhineland rail hubs and French aircraft factories and airdromes.

At the same time fighter-escorted American "heavies" based in Italy thundered into southeastern France for the third straight day, lashing at rail installations, in heavy blows at Nîmes, Avignon and Marseille.

Between 750 and 1,000 Liberators and Fortresses from Britain pounded German rail centers at Mannheim, Ludwigshafen, Saarbrücken and Karlsruhe, the Rhineland industrial city 150 miles north of Munich.

They dumped some 2,500 tons of explosives on the Ludwigshafen rail yards, at yards in southwest Germany and on aircraft engine repair plants in the French cities of Metz and Strasbourg.

While these heavy bomber armadas closed in on the enemy from two sides, the Allied expeditionary air force sent hundreds of lighter craft against Hitler's westward defenses from British bases.

The Italy-based bombers, with Lightning escort, smashed two rail yards at Marseille, enemy airdromes at Salon, and the Avignon yards.

Raid Razanik Port

Rounding out the powerful daylight assault, other Italy-based bombers raided the Yugoslav port of Razanik.

From Britain, RAF Bostons and Mitchells bombed airfields in northern France during daylight, while spitfire fighter-bombers struck at other military objectives in the area, and the ninth U. S. Air Force sent a fleet of Marauders and Havocs to attack rail bridges in northern France and the rail yards at Amiens.

First Fortress and Liberator crews returning today to British bases said they obtained good results with their bombing, which was carried out in perfect weather. Initial reports indicated the Germans offered spirited opposition only at Mannheim and Ludwigshafen.

Canton Flooded As Levee Breaks

CANTON, Mo., May 27.—(P)—A two-day battle by the townspeople of Canton against the surging waters of the Mississippi river was lost tonight when a levee broke, spilling water into the northern section of the town.

Coast guardsmen were evacuating residents of the area when the levee gave way. No loss of life or injury was reported. The break occurred as citizens and the faculty and student body of Culver Stockton college worked on the Dykes while awaiting the arrival of five companies of state militiamen from Moberly, Hannibal, Mexico, Columbia and Kirksville.

Their arrival had been delayed as high waters blocked two major highways into Canton. Efforts were made to bring the troops into town over back roads.

Between 75 and 100 houses will be affected by tonight's levee break. The river reached its highest level since 1851 late this afternoon when it went well over 19 feet.

There was not a dry block in the business district where seven buildings, including the hotel, had water covering the first floors.

Further downstream army district engineers called for federal troops to strengthen weakened levees at Ellsberg.

'Lay It On The Line From Two To Nine' Is County Bond Slogan

"Lay it on the line from 2:00 to 9:00" will be the slogan for Pettis county's Fifth War Loan drive to be conducted in Sedalia on Friday, June 9. The effort to meet the quota of $195,000, in one day with a short, intensive campaign is geared by the Pettis county war finance committee so that less time will be taken by the volunteer workers from other necessary activities.

The committee is again headed by C. L. Hanley, chairman, with Ben Robinson and Ed. Mullaley as co-chairmen of Sedalia. E. C. Hamilton is organizing the rural districts of the county and the towns outside Sedalia while Mrs. Chester A. Wright heads the various women's organizations. All of these chairmen have received assistance from other workers representing business houses, manufacturers, and merchants.

Buy On June 9
All bond buyers in Pettis county are asked to make purchases of war bonds on June 9 in one of the "Induction Centers" in the public schools, banks, post office, and railroad shops from two to nine o'clock. The Burr building on south Ohio avenue is being made ready as a central bond headquarters and clearing house for the direction of the drive. The drive will open with the sounding of bells, whistles, sirens, and horns at 2 p. m. Friday, June 9.

C. R. Hewitt To Assist In Murder Case

Assigned To Help Prosecute Edgar Holland

Covell R. Hewitt, assistant attorney general, Saturday was assigned to assist Leo J. Harned, prosecuting attorney of Pettis county, in the prosecution of Edgar W. Holland, charged with first degree murder in connection with killing his wife. The assignment was announced by Roy McKittrick, attorney general.

McKittrick said Hewitt would be "aid Harned to the fullest in preparing his case."

Harned had requested the governor to request Attorney General McKittrick to assign one of his assistants to the case.

Holland, it is alleged, shot and killed his wife Mrs. Molly Mattie Grose Holland, 36, then decapitated her. The case has been filed in the court of Judge C. W. Bente, sitting ex-officio justice of the peace. As yet no date has been decided upon for a preliminary hearing for Holland.

Held Without Bond

Holland is being held in the county jail without bond.

His arrest came after he had been questioned by the patrol for four days. Blood stains were found in the home and it was then he was placed under arrest, and charged with first degree murder preferred by Prosecutor Harned.

Since his arrest members of the patrol have been working day and night conducting investigations on information which poured into the office of Prosecutor Harned. During the past week nearly a hundred persons have been questioned by members of the patrol.

One of the headless bodies fished from the Lake of the Ozarks in Mid-April, was identified as the body of Holland's wife. Physicians and friends said the other body was that of Mrs. Holland's mother, Mrs. Pearl Fairfax, 59.

No charges have been filed against Holland in the death of his mother-in-law.

Russians Hit Nazi Shipping

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
LONDON, May 27.—(P)—Preliminary to a strategically timed offensive from the Far North to the Black sea the Russians continue to hammer at German shipping in upper waters, tonight's Soviet communique announcing the sinking of four more enemy transports in the Gulfs of Riga and Finland.

These actions signalling the first movement of German convoys in weeks coincided with a Berlin broadcaster's prediction that imminent Soviet drives would include a major attack in the Baltic.

Woman's Body Out Of Lake

Believed To Be Mrs. Jewett, Who Has Been Missing

DURHAM, N. C., May 27.—(P)—The nude and deteriorated body of an elderly woman was dragged from the bottom of Eastwood lake this afternoon and Police Chief H. E. King of Durham said he believed it to be that of Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, rich Boonville, Mo., woman who has been mysteriously missing since May 10.

Positive identification, King said, may be difficult because of the condition of the body, which had 12 to 14 stab wounds in the back and had been in the water at least a week.

The discovery was made by a professional diver, R. H. Butler of Newport News, Va., after a three-day search and came exactly a week after Mrs. Jewett's 24-year-old grandson, Edward Jewett Martin, was arrested on an open charge.

The body, tied by wire and rope fastened to the ankles, wrists and waist, was weighted down by heavy cinder blocks.

Last Thursday the Durham county grand jury indicted the young Charlotte chemist on a charge of murder after a deposit box here rented in Martin's name was found to contain three diamond rings and a diamond studded brooch.

Found Unsigned Will

Detective W. E. Gates said an unsigned will by Mrs. Jewett leaving Martin a large share of her estate was found in the youth's possession. The detective said Martin told him his grandmother's estate was worth $500,000.

After viewing the body following its removal from the 80-acre lake eight miles from here near the little university town of Chapel Hill, an inquest jury, impaneled by Coroner H. J. Walker, was adjourned until next week.

The body was taken to a Chapel Hill funeral home.

King described the face of the body as "pushed in."

An offensive odor coming from a car garage attendants said Martin had parked brought on his arrest last Saturday. After talking freely at first, Martin refused to comment following his engagement of an attorney.

Durham police said Martin had driven Mrs. Jewett from Charlotte to her former home in Boonville, Mo., that the two had stopped at a hotel there May 8 and that Mrs. Jewett was not seen again after May 10.

King said a woman's artificial teeth, blood-stained clothing and wrist watch and other items which police connected with Mrs. Jewett were found in Martin's quarters and the automobile.

Captain Is Shot By Crew Members

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—The navy reported today that Karl J. Larsen, captain of the S. S. Thomas J. Walsh was shot to death April 19 in an exchange of shots with members of the naval gun crew aboard his merchant vessel.

The shooting occurred in a south Pacific port under naval jurisdiction where the navy said it had become necessary to confine Larsen to his quarters aboard ship. Larsen lived in New York City.

The navy said that the merchant vessel has returned to a west coast port and that a thorough investigation of the shooting is being made.

Invasion Of Biak Island By U. S. Troops

Shore Batteries In Duel With Naval Force

By MURLIN SPENCER
ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Sunday, May 28.—(P)—Veteran American infantrymen forced a landing at Biak island in the Schoutens yesterday against strong Japanese resistance and battled their way toward airfields that will base Allied planes for assaults on the Philippines.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, announcing the invasion today, said the hardened Yanks stormed the southeastern beaches of the island after dawn and by nightfall had established a strong beachhead a mile east and a mile west of Bosnik.

The jungle-green-clad veterans of other New Guinea amphibious operations rushed up the sandy, gently-sloping beaches less than 900 miles from the Southern Philippines after an intensive bombardment by American and Australian cruisers.

The landing itself was one of the most heavily opposed of any made by MacArthur's forces in the Southwest Pacific theater.

The Japanese, lodged in strong positions overlooking the beaches, opened up with heavy mortar and automatic weapons fire. MacArthur's communique said, however, that American losses in the operation were light.

Long Range Duel
Simultaneously with the landing enemy shore batteries carried on long-range duel with the American and Australian cruisers and other naval craft. A head-quarters spokesman said minor damage and casualties were suffered by the naval force.

The last report at headquarters told of the American infantrymen hammering ahead toward the Mokmer, Sorido and Borokoe airdromes seven miles away. But they were running into strong enemy resistance.

Announcing the landing on Biak, MacArthur said:

"Capture of this stronghold will give us command and domination of Dutch New Guinea except for isolated enemy positions. For strategic purposes, this marks the practical end of the New Guinea campaign."

Dedication Of Armory Today

Col. L. L. Conrad, of St. Louis, notified Capt. Burke that he will be unable to come, but Col. Kyle T. Graham and Gen. Harry Gamble will speak.

The public is invited. It was not known definitely Saturday night if plans for the parade at 2 o'clock could be carried out, though it was believed probable that it will be as planned so nearly as possible.

He didn't bother to tell her that he had rescued Michael from drowning in an irrigation ditch into which the child had fallen while at play.

The American Legion sold 2,000 poppies, receiving a total of $165.54 an average of 9.02 cents per poppy. Eight girls from Job's Daughters, and three not members of the organization were the sales girls. The awards for the most sales went to Dorothy Williams, of Job's Daughters, Mrs. Herman A. Mrs. George Scott, in charge of poppy sales for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was highly appreciative Saturday night of the splendid cooperation received from every source in the sales. Of the 3,000 poppies she received for sale, not one was left Saturday night, and she believed that more might have been sold had they been available.

The poppies cost the VFW auxiliary $46 per thousand, a total of $138, and the proceeds from the sales were estimated at $315 or more, thus showing net proceeds at nearly $200.

Crossroads Comment

by G.H.S.

Much fresh meat and all cooking oils are now point free. This condition may influence housewives to conclude that there is no longer a need for saving fats.

However, there is a continued shortage of industrial fats!

Hence the Fat Salvage program must be maintained.

When the campaign was started 21 months ago there was skepticism over the venture which would require the education of women to save and turn over to the butcher something that had always been considered garbage.

That the program is meeting success on a nation-wide basis is revealed in an estimate that the fat collection will total 20 million pounds during May, a high mark.

Nevertheless abundant supplies of industrial fats continue to be needed to meet the increased demands for war production geared to invasion—as well as civilian requirements.

Therefore Americans are urged to save all their used cooking fats and turn them in to their butchers. These fats are vital in making of such materials as synthetic rubber, parachutes, de-icing fluids for planes, explosives, life-saving medicines, industrial, military and civilian soaps and hundreds of other war necessities.

Increased production has helped give housewives point-free fats for their kitchens. By saving more used fats American women can help keep our food fats point-free—and our war machine rolling on to Victory.

Becoming Coal-Conscious in Summertime—

During the hot days of summer it is virtually impossible for people to become coal-conscious. Winter is far away and its effect on domestic household heating so nebulous there is difficulty in convincing people to change their coal-buying habits and buy their winter supply in the summertime.

Yet real concern is developing over the coal shortage prospects for next winter. Early buying must be stimulated, declare spokesmen for the Solid Fuels Administration.

If mines lie idle this summer because the consumer demand is non-existent for an interval, certainly there will be a bottleneck this fall. Then coal dealers may be unable to supply their customers.

The Missouri Coal Dealers are appealing to the public to support the national program of buying coal early. The least the public can do is give them co-operation now, not criticism later when an empty coal bin cannot be filled because of a lack of foresight on the part of the consumer.

Borrowed But Good—

Him: "Well, I suppose I'll have to explain why I came home with this black eye last night."

She (sweetly): "Not at all, dear, you may not remember it, but when you came home you didn't have that black eye."

The tired business man arrived home. The cook had left that morning without giving notice. The market had been depressed all day, causing him great financial loss, and to climax the evil day he found a farewell note from his wife. He knew a shot would end it all. So he opened the bottle and took one.

No Slow-down in War Strategy—

Some people are not a bit restrained in voicing an opinion that progress of the European war is being deliberately slowed down for the purpose of staging dramatic events around November election time.

This is rather a stupid analysis of the situation. Those at the helm of the present administration can be charged with many mental aberrations, but not one of playing fast and loose with the lives of hundreds of thousands of young soldiers.

If the war's progress does not move along with alacrity this summer and public suspicion should be generated that there had been any tampering with the general strategy, the voters, win, loose or draw would sweep from office every office-holder tagged with even a shade of responsibility for encouraging traitorous politics affecting the battlefronts.

The Allies are on their way to victory and no political maneuvers at home are going to retard the movement without disastrous results to the perpetrators of a slow-down policy.

After 40, Thumb-Twiddling—

Twiddling your thumbs as you sit quietly in a rocking chair is all the exercise you require after forty, writes Dr. Peter J. Steiner in Your Life magazine. Which is just the sort of an alibi harrassed husbands in the "dangerous forties" have been looking for to escape being impressed by energetic wives to assist in belated spring housecleaning chores.

Republicans are of the opinion that Prof. Albert Einstein's Theory of Relativity is even more lucid than his recently declared theory advocating a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

Recollection of FDR's scorn of returning to the horse and buggy days has its ironic climax this month in the recording of a $30.85 mortgage on a rubber-tired buggy purchased by a Pettis county woman.

Painless, Like a Toothache—

A very evident campaign is underway to popularize the new income tax law by repeated description of it as "streamlined"; as taxation without irritation; and painless.

Tax provisions may be streamlined from complexity to simplicity, but tax provisions are not without irritation and certainly never painless.

Legislators may sugar-coat the pill but its effects are the same—the pill bitter or sweet. The aftermath is a gripe.

Public criticism of taxation is restrained by realization of war-time demands; unconscionable wastefulness is tolerated. But in the post-war era the nation will experience public revulsion over continued efforts to squander public funds. The people will demand that their public servants set in order the economy of the national domestic household.

There's A Difference in Chicken Feed—

A business man who raises chickens and is interested in buying feed for them overheard the tail-end of a conversation between two Hotel Bothwell waitresses, one of whom said:

"I've got to move and get rid of my chicken feed."

Finishing his breakfast the business man recalling the remark concluded if the waitress was moving out of town and had to dispose of some chicken feed, he might buy it from her. So he inquired at the cash desk the identity of the waitress who was quitting. None knew of such a person. Then the other waitress, a party of the original conversation, appeared, and was asked about the girl who was wanting to get rid of her chicken feed.

A howl of laughter greeted the business man, who was quite chagrined when he learned that the waitress merely meant that by moving she had to get to work; that by getting rid of her chicken feed, she meant exchanging a pocket full of tip-money for less weighty dollar bills.

Make It Short and Snappy—

A short, intensive drive of a few hours to raise the Fifth War Loan quota should meet with approval of the citizenry. The Pettis County bond committees are planning such a program on June 9 between the hours of 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 9 o'clock that night.

Schoolhouse induction centers will be established as hubs of activity throughout the city and county.

Time-consuming drives of the past are wasteful of man power, especially during the summer time when there is much activity on the farms and in the gardens.

In the Fourth War Loan drive Cape Girardeau raised its bond quota in six hours. What Cape Girardeau did, Sedalia and Pettis county can do.

Being Perverse For Perversity's Sake—

Perversity—just plain, downright stubbornness, is an inherent characteristic of some persons. Sometimes it becomes an unyielding, inflexible complex, so much so, that if the devil himself gave approval to the worshipping of God, the person thus advised would be so obdurate he would start a campaign against it.

Everyone has acute moments of obstinacy, but those with chronic cases are candidates for psychoanalysis. They have become victims of some sort of frustration. They have discovered that by taking exception to everything anyone else advocates they attract attention to themselves and are instilled with a feeling of power which they could not otherwise acquire.

Usually this type of person is outspoken and follows the line of destructive criticism, never constructive criticism. Tragically enough when they are allowed to follow their course without resistance they are the means of shattering many worth while projects.

When uniformly approved matters of public interest are involved that may be affected by those perversely-minded, or by those merely motivated by personal animosities, the citizens should intervene and demand an explanation.

What's A Mere $200,000.00?—

The Missouri Highway System, including bridges, was damaged to the extent of $200,000 by recent flood waters, according to division engineer estimates.

That is only one item in one state throughout the Missouri Valley.

Year after year, generation after generation the floods come and go. There is always incalculable damage done to lives and property running into the millions of dollars. The taxpayer foots the bill. He is unimpressed by intermittent estimates on damage. He doesn't grasp the overall significance of the disasters.

A few billions of dollars spent for preparedness and prevention of floods instead of repairs and relief ought to be in order.

Withering Among the Opposition—

When one party remains too long in office it becomes afflicted naturally with administrative diseases. The younger incumbents, who once rallied against the old men, themselves become antiquated.

Long-time one-party administration tends to wither the talent of the opposition. Finally when the public rebels and calls for a change in party direction of their affairs, those of another political party available for service have "lost the touch." The electorate votes against the party in long-time power rather than for the opposition candidates whose caliber oftentimes is second-rate.

That is why the public witnesses considerable floundering for a time under new political management, because those who should have been encouraged from time to time as applicants were misled to expect no consideration and thereby lost interest of ever being called to service.

Never Satisfied—

We were admonished to refer to the present unpleasantness overseas as the "War of Survival," but we continue to speak of it as World War II. Now the term "liberation" is supposed to be preferable to "invasion," so Americans will just go on calling it the "invasion."

So They Say

Fortress Europe will be assaulted in what promises to be the most formidable military undertaking in history. I can assure you that when the zero hour arrives—we shall not fail. —Adm. Ernest J. King.

Collective security of the world may depend upon how far nations of other continents are willing to go in accepting the pattern already established on the American continent. This pattern of international organization is nothing but democracy at work.—Dr. Carlos Davila, former president of Chile.

Merry-go-round

. . . by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, May 27—Gen. Eisenhower has just issued an order which will mean all the difference in the world to harmony between U. S. and British troops during the invasion.

He has ordered that all American Red Cross entertainment centers and other recreational hostels shall be open to all Allied troops, and that prices shall be lowered to meet the pay of the lowest-paid soldier.

This may not seem so on the surface, but to those familiar with the unfortunate feeling between British and American troops in England, it is all important. It goes back to the fact that American troops are the highest paid in the world, and have been able to put British troops in the shade socially through superior buying power.

When British Tommies see their girls go off with strangers who can afford to buy them a better time, it doesn't help morale. In addition to this, the American Red Cross has taken over various big mansions in England and transformed them into comfortable, sometimes luxurious recreation centers for American troops.

This has been an excellent thing—except in one respect. British troops, seeing American soldiers living off the fat of the land, with mansions at their disposal, have resented it.

No "Keep Out" Signs

Some American Red Cross workers have taken the initiative into their own hands and invited British troops into American centers. Their theory has been that, when soldiers of the Allied armies got to know each other, bickering and jealousy would disappear. The idea worked when tried out, but it has not been tried out very much.

Finally, the whole problem came before General Eisenhower. He has now ruled that, when the British, American, Canadian, New Zealand and other Allied troops land in western Europe, American centers shall be thrown open to all Allied troops, and that prices shall be reduced to meet the meager salary of the British Tommy. American soldiers, naturally, will get the benefit of this price reduction too.

General Eisenhower felt that it would not be good for Allied co-operation if British troops, when near an American recreation center, should be met with a "Keep Out" sign. Naturally, British hostels will be open to American troops also.

NOTE: American Red Cross centers in England are managed by well-trained Americans, but a big part of their staff, aside from the top people, are volunteer British workers.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Hon. John Cashman departed yesterday for Leavenworth, Kas., to assist in instituting a new council of the Knights of Columbus.

Apache Tribe No. 55, Independent Order of Red Men, and Sedalia Aerie No. 601, Fraternal Order of Eagles, are arranging a joint celebration of the Fourth of July. The program will include a fireworks display and other attractions.

The Rev. C. V. Northrup, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon this afternoon at the First Christian church to the high school graduating class. A special musical program will be presented.

Miss Martha Lettis, principal of the Sedalia high school, entertained the faculty and senior class elegantly Friday night. Anagrams was the game for the evening.

The Rural Letter Carriers' association of Pettis county at a meeting held last night at the postoffice elected D. M. Overstreet, Sedalia, L. M. Stotts, Smithton, C. E. Phillips, Green Ridge, and Eddie Kemp, Sedalia delegates to the state convention to be held in Chillicothe in August.

That Harlem probably will elect a Republican this year.

Furthermore, the Republicans will probably send the first Negro congresswoman in history to Washington. She is Mrs. Sarah Pelham Speaks, recently nominated on the GOP ticket to run from New York's new 20th district.

Opposing Mrs. Speaks will be flamboyant Adam Clappell Powell, Negro clergyman, newspaper publisher and left-wing member of the New York City Council.

Mrs. Speaks comes from one of Harlem's prominent families. Her husband is a doctor who formerly played with a jazz orchestra. She herself is one of the most successful criminal lawyers in Harlem.

Meanwhile, Herbert Bruce, Negro leader of Tammany Hall, has refused to support Mrs. Speaks' opponent, Adam Powell. This, together with the zeal of Negro women to elect one of their own sex to Congress, probably means Merry-Go-Round.

Without any breast-beating, Henry Kaiser did a whale of a job in operating the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation for the navy, and didn't take one cent of pay. He put the company's plants on an efficient, up-to-date basis, and the fact that the navy

NO SLEEP FOR COURTRIGHT

XXV

LINK went back to Norma. He found her in the room where they'd had the wine earlier. He searched her face for signs of nervousness, and there were not too many. He grinned at her with approval, and said, "Now we have a job to do, baby. We've got to act innocent."

"I understand," Norma said. "Yes, we have to fool them."

"We'll do it, too, baby. This Azaraski may think he's good at deceit, but we'll show him a few things."

Her answering smile, which must have taken effort, pleased him a great deal. "Sure we will," she said. "After all, my grandfather was a Yankee horse trader."

Link admired her courage. He had a sort of a silly impulse, an overpowering desire to express the way he felt in one manner or another. But the only way he could think of expressing it was to take her in his arms and kiss her, but that would have been embarrassing. It wasn't a time for kissing.

"Let's find Courtright," Link said. "We've got to tell her to keep her mouth shut."

"I told her," Norma explained. "A few minutes ago."

"What'd she say?"

"We needn't worry about her, Link. She said she didn't want these Japs torturing her to find out where Kip hid the swag."

"What," asked Link, "is wrong with Tilda Courtright?"

"She's just scared, Link."

"Okay," Link said. But he was satisfied that wasn't the whole explanation.

WHEN Captain Azaraski entered the inn, they were ready for him. He came in and beamed at them. They beamed right back at him.

finally discontinued production had nothing to do with his management. Quite the contrary . . . The shipping boys are staging a terrific lobbying drive on Admiral "Jerry" Land to up the valuation on vessels, increase compensation when ships are lost, and boost their profits in other ways. Taxpayers should keep an eye on Jerry to see if he gives . . . Banker Jesse Jones has now branched out as an expert on the

"I have just had a talk with the innkeeper, telling him what kind of dinner we want," Azaraski said. "He promises a special feast."

Throughout the evening that followed, Azaraski was a hard-working host. He insisted on giving them an escorted tour of the inn. They showed much false interest, since they had already been over the inn thoroughly, searching for a microphone of an eavesdropper. Norma talked more than usual. Link was afraid she was being a little too animated, overdoing it. But then he concluded this was his imagination. She was doing fine. Courtright did her part, too.

Courtright gave a lecture about the tokonoma. Link wondered if she had ever written any school textbooks about Japan. She sounded like one.

"In every pretentious Japanese bedroom, you will find one of these little alcoves, called the tokonoma," Courtright said. "You'll notice that the floor is raised a little above the floor of the room. It is a place of honor. Almost always, there will be a picture and an incense burner. It isn't what it looks like, a handy place to stack your luggage. In fact, I have always had a suspicion that the foreigners have done more to antagonize the Japanese by tossing their suitcases into the tokonoma, than by any other one thing."

The evening as a whole, although it was a grim period for all of them, seemed to be passing off well enough.

For dinner, they had sukiyaki flavored with Japanese soy and a spirit distilled from rice and sweetened. There was clear soup and shrimp fried in batter and a good yokan, a sweet bean paste.

Full stomachs gave them an excuse to pretend to be sleepy. They were all tired, although it was doubtful if they could really sleep. They retired for the night.

Link had no chance to talk to shipping business. He has just written quite a tome on post-war shipping . . . From down in Texas where they shoot straight and write hard, Si Casady, editor of the McAllen (Tex.) Monitor, has written Senator McKellar of Tennessee: "Would it be too much to ask that you autograph the enclosed clipping of verbal pyrotechnics, preferably with a pen dipped in Pearson's blood, and return it to us for our scrapbook?" The clipping was a report of McKellar's speech in the Senate denouncing this columnist.

Courtright alone. But he had watched her. He was extremely puzzled about Courtright. He was also worried. He resolved to keep an eye on her.

TILDA COURTRIGHT went to her room. She discovered that she was to occupy a room with Norma. She suggested that she occupy another room, giving the excuse that she snored.

Even after she was in a room by herself, Courtright did not undress. She made no effort to sleep. She would have fought sleep, except that it was no problem for her to stay awake. She could not have slept.

She did pull the futon, the thickly padded quilt, over her. Not because the night air was cold, but in case anyone should look in on her. It wasn't modesty; she merely didn't want anyone to know she still wore all her clothes.

She was very glad she had taken the precaution, because Norma came in to tell her good night. "Wait, dear," Courtright said. "Has Link said anything strange about me?"

"No, he hasn't," Norma answered. "Earlier in the evening, he did ask what was wrong with you. I told him you were just scared, like the rest of us."

"Good night, dear," Courtright said. "And try not to worry. Try to sleep."

Norma returned to her room. Courtright turned over on her side. She pressed her ear against the padded wooden block which served as a pillow. In this way, through the vibrations in the floor, Courtright could hear when anyone moved about in the inn.

Later, through the padded wooden pillow, she heard footsteps. She knew this would be Captain Azaraski, creeping out doors.

Courtright got up herself. Her bare feet felt a silent way across the mats to the door. She went out into the night. The clouds had thickened in the sky, and it was quite dark.

She was supposed to meet Azaraski outside tonight.

Nazis Take Up Positions For Defense

Wave Of Terror Evident As The Invasion Nears

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, May 27.—(P)—In these last days before the June full moon Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's army of the west has taken up its final defensive position—from which the Nazis admit they dare not budge even to avert disaster in Italy—to meet the shock of an approaching invasion in which the Germans are saying the whole course of the war will be decided this summer.

The Germans, with a nervous eye on the French channel coast and contending with the spectre of a heavy assault by Soviet Russia from the east, also have haunting fears that the Allies intend to break into fortress Europe through Scandinavia.

This is reflected in the worst wave of Nazi terror yet experienced in Norway and Denmark, according to reports from Stockholm. Thirty Norwegian patriots have been executed since May 1, and in Denmark 19 high Danish officials and military men are under arrest, charged with participating in a secret military organization, the reports said.

Ready to spring, the Allies today warned Europe's underground to keep off the roads when the invasion armies fight their way into the continent from the west, to take cover from bombardment, to maintain discipline and to follow the orders of their leaders implicitly. The warning was beamed to the continent from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters.

Across the 20-mile water gap which separates these two worlds, Britons went into their traditional Witsun holiday weekend. Travel crowds, thinned but still enough to from day-long queues at railroad stations, knew they might be stranded by cancellations of service, but they reflected a feeling that this week-end might be the last "breather" on a home front strained by war work.

Four years ago yesterday on the battered beaches of Dunkerque the evacuation began. The strange armada of all time—rowboats, canoes, private launches and a motley assortment of all kinds of craft—accomplished the rescue of the BEF.

The dreadful climax to the debacle in Flanders had cost the British dearly. The official report showed that 1,000 ships evacuated 335,000 men, that casualties exceeded 30,000 killed, wounded or missing, and that material losses were almost beyond calculation.

British pride in their fighting forces massed here for the attack was reflected in the declaration of War Secretary Sir James Grigg at Bournemouth today that "this army is the best we ever had—it will achieve victory in the end, but in the meantime it will have to endure much."

The chief war analyst for Transocean, Nazi propaganda agency, announced that final disposition for "decisive battles which must come this summer" had been made and added that "this decision can only fall in the west." He said that from now on, "withdrawal of operative reserves from the west is entirely out of the question."

Here to Seek Workers for Washington

Representatives Of State Department Seek Men, Women

Miss Virginia Brittingham and Miss Frances Baker, Civil Service Recruiting Representatives for the State Department, will be in Sedalia for the coming week to interview men and women interested in securing government positions in Washington, D. C.

According to Miss Brittingham, who arrived in Sedalia today, there is a real field of opportunity open to women who are free to accept employment in the State Department in our nation's capital today. Miss Brittingham, who may be reached for interview at the office of the U. S. Employment Service, has just come from Washington, D. C., and can furnish full information on living conditions, cost of living, etc., in that city.

In the State Department there is an immediate vital need for clerks, typists, and stenographers. Applicants who are selected are guaranteed suitable housing facilities upon their arrival for duty. Starting salaries range from $146 per month to $164 per month, and no experience is necessary for those who qualify for the starting positions.

Examination Given
Civil Service examination is given to all who apply, and immediate appointments will be offered to United States citizens who pass the examination and meet the physical and age requirements, provided they are not working in essential industry at their highest skill. Applications are sought from women who are 17½ or above, from high school students who graduated this school term, and from men whose draft classification is such that they are not subject to call for induction.

Miss Brittingham mentions that the post war responsibilities of the State Department would undoubtedly provide an opportunity for many persons being employed now to remain with the department for much longer than the duration, since it is expected that the work of this agency will increase, rather than decrease, with the close of the war.

Arrangements have been made to appoint the persons selected by Miss Brittingham and Miss Baker while they are in this locality. New appointees will be met when they reach Washington.

Application forms may be secured at the U. S. Employment Office, or from the secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners at the postoffice.

Col. Hitch To Speak At Rotary Meeting

Col. A. M. Hitch, of Boonville, governor of the 134th Rotary international district, will be the guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon meeting at the Bothwell hotel Monday noon. Col. Hitch is head of the Kemper Military Academy.

D. S. Lamm is program chairman and will present the speaker. The club leaders are anticipating a 100 per cent membership attendance.

City Employees Have Increase in Pay

An increase in the salaries of some of the city's appointive employees was recently approved by the city council. The fire chief and assistant received an increase of $10.00 per month; drivers raised from $121.00 to $135.00 per month, regular firemen from $115.00 to $130.00, and new men starting will receive $125.00 with a five dollar increase after six months.

The salary of the stenographer-clerk in the city hall was increased from $60 to $80, and all other employees, including police force members, received a ten dollar per month hike.

Jail Sentence On Worthless Check

Charles E. Sands, of Sedalia, was sentenced to 20 days in the county jail together with costs incurred in the case in the sum of $10.00, by Judge W. A. Collins, justice of the peace, Saturday, when he pleaded guilty to a worthless check charge.

Sands gave to Meta Brosch at the Missouri Inn a check for $10.00 on April 1 of this year. The instrument was turned down by the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co., on which it was written, because there was no deposit on record in his name.

B. P. W. C. Installation Thursday Night

The Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club will have installation of officers at a candlelight service following a dinner at the Bothwell hotel, at 6:30 o'clock Thursday night. Miss Hazel Palmer, president of the State Federation, and a member of the Sedalia club will be installing officer.

Thinks Turkey May Slip In War

By WILLIAM B. KING

Associated Press War Correspondent who has just returned after three years abroad, the last ten months in Turkey.)

NEW YORK, May 27.—(The possibility that Turkey will slip belatedly and ineffectively into the war at the side of the Allies cannot be dismissed, but opportunity for her to make a real military contribution has passed, just as has her own period of danger.

Those are conclusions reached after observing the Turkish scene for ten months in Ankara and Istanbul, where men in the street and professional diplomats alike wavered between the opinion that Turkey would join the war when it would to the Allies the most good and the conviction she would never fight despite her repeated protestations of adherence to the Anglo-Turkish alliance.

Turkey's non-belligerency has doubtless been beneficial to Turkish life and property—up to the present point. Unlike such neutrals as Switzerland and Sweden, however, Turkey never said blankly that she did not intend to fight.

Turkey became all things to all nations in a desperate effort to build up military strength to support her own individual and opportunist policy.

President May See Churchill

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—President Roosevelt's expressed desire to get a closer look at the war, coupled with a possibility that United Nations leaders might start joint conversations soon on a postwar security organization, was believed tonight to underlie his casual remark that he expects to see Prime Minister Churchill soon.

There are several factors that might impel the President to make a trip abroad in the not too distant future. Assuming that the battle for Europe will get under way sometime this spring or summer, many informed persons familiar with the President's deep preoccupation with military affairs, especially at this critical stage, believe he would like to get nearer to the scene of action.

Another factor, although one that is viewed here as of secondary consideration, is the forthcoming visit to London of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, the French leader, for conference with Churchill.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 27 —(AP)—Samuel A. Dew, Kansas City Republican, was appointed by Gov. Donnell Friday night as judge of the Kansas City court of appeals to succeed the late Hopkins B. Shain, a Democrat.

Dew, a 62-year-old former circuit judge, will be the only Republican on the three-judge Kansas City court.

He was the fifth consecutive Republican appointed by the Republican governor to a judicial post since Missouri's non-partisan court plan was adopted four years ago. None of his appointments has gone to a Democrat.

Pass Over Two Democrats

In appointing Dew, Donnell passed over two Democrats—Lynn M. Ewing of Nevada and William H. Allen of Kansas City—nominated with Dew by the Judicial commission, which under the court plan names the men from whom Donnell must make his appointment.

The governor's choice was watched closely for its possible effect on the attitude of constitutional convention delegates toward the non-partisan court plan.

Opponents of the plan have stressed in their arguments for its repeal the fact that all judicial appointees under the plan have been of the same political faith as the Republican governor who appointed them. Sponsors of the plan contend it removes judges from politics.

The other two judges on the Kansas City Court of Appeals are Ewing C. Bland of Kansas City and Nick T. Cave of Columbia, both Democrats.

Born in Kansas City in 1882, Dew was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1906 and from the Kansas City School of Law in 1909. He practiced law in Kansas City with his father until 1915, then from 1917 to 1920 was a member of the law firm of Thompson, Dew and Brasher.

Elected circuit judge in Jackson county in 1920, he served until 1927. Since then he has practiced law in Kansas City.

He won the Republican nomination for judge of the Kansas City court of appeals in 1932, but lost to Shain in the general election.

Under the non-partisan court plan, Dew will serve at least until Jan. 1, 1947. But to stay on the bench after that he must submit his name—unopposed—on the 1946 general election ballot, with the voters answering "Yes" or "No" to the question whether he shall be retained in office. A favorable vote would start him on a full term of 10 years.

These young men who graduated May 18 from Smith-Cotton high school have participated in the activities of Scout Troop 61 for approximately six years, registering as Scouts at the age of 12 when they were pupils at Mark Twain school, where the troop was chartered. All hold advanced Scout ranks and a number are Eagle Scouts. Some of the boys already have entered military service and several are signed for training programs, their military status depending on their ages. Left to right, bottom row are, Jack Collins, Burl Sammons, (now in the navy, assigned to Farragut, Idaho) J. W. Fullerton, Ralph McKelvey and Bob Hunt, inducted for naval training at Farragut. Back row: Albert Steiner, Scoutmaster of the troop, who started as leader with the boys, and who is a member of the high school faculty; Claude Lambirth, Dick Shea, Ernest Baker, Jr., Charles Walter and Harry Lambirth, Scout commissioner and chairman of the troop committee. Another active member of Troop 61 was Fred Hulse, Jr., who entered army cadet training some weeks ago, receiving his high school diploma before he left for service.

Red Cross Corner

The Red Cross office will be closed all day Monday and all day Tuesday, in observance of Memorial Day.

The surgical dressings rooms will be closed Monday and Tuesday, the regular schedule for both office and work rooms to be resumed Wednesday, May 31.

There is plenty of material on hand, and the continued support of all regular volunteers is needed to complete the present quota on time.

The answer to our request for cakes for the USO on Mother's Day was a generous one. The members of the Canteen whose project this was, were exceedingly gratified, and would like to say "thank you" to all the service-mothers in Sedalia, who baked their own son's favorite cakes for the boys.

The Gray Ladies Corps met Tuesday night at the home of the co-chairman, Mrs. Ed McLaughlin, for its regular business session after which a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Arthur Scott was assisting hostess with Mrs. Harold Dean, chairman of Volunteer Special Services, Mrs. Frederick Krashell, and Mrs. S. H. Horowitz, recreational directors at SAAF, as special guests.

Our thanks to Miss Hope Hieronymus for the electric fan which she has loaned to the office for the summer months.

The following members of the Canteen will go to the Sedalia Army Air Field Sunday afternoon to serve refreshments to the men in the base hospital: Mrs. S. E. Bushey, Mrs. H. F. Rapp, Mrs. Lon Leslie, Mrs. H. L. McFarland, Mrs. John Staubli, Mrs. E. W. Richardson, Mrs. H. F. Niemann, and Mrs. D. C. Davis.

Creamery at Smithton Sold

The Saline County Milk Producers association of Marshall, operating as Central Missouri Milk Cooperative, have taken over the Smithton creamery at Smithton.

No changes are being made in the personnel of the entire plant. Operations will continue the same as in the past, except that the plant will now operate as a non-stock cooperative and profits will be prorated to all member producers on the basis of their deliveries of cream and milk.

M. W. Chase will be manager of the plant. Mr. Chase has had considerable experience in the dairy manufacturing business, and has operated plants in Maryville, Mo., and Chickasha, Okla. He has also owned and operated his own businesses at various times.

S. E. Bremer is retiring from active participation in the business, after fifteen years ownership, but is associated with it in an advisory capacity.

The date of the business transfer was May 21.

Homecoming at Olive Branch Sunday

The annual home coming and children's day at the Olive Branch Baptist church, two miles north of Beaman, will be held Sunday, May 28.

Sunday school will begin at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning with H. F. O'Neill, superintendent, in charge. At 11:00 o'clock the children will present their Vacation Bible school commencement program. The afternoon service will begin at 2:00 o'clock with special music and the annual home coming sermon.

All members and friends of the church are invited to these services, and are asked to bring full baskets and enjoy the basket dinner at the noon hour.

Waives Hearing In Assault Case

Gertrude Jones, Negress, charged with assault with intent to kill upon Roosevelt Carpenter on May 10, waived preliminary hearing before Judge C. W. Bente, ex-officio justice of the peace, Friday morning, and was bound over to the criminal division of the June term of circuit court.

She is at liberty now on $1,000 bond signed by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Abbott.

Miss Palmer Attends Collector's Convention

Miss Hazel Palmer, 901 South Vermont avenue, county collector for Pettis county, has returned home from Jefferson City where on Thursday and Friday she attended the convention of the State County Collectors Association at the Missouri Hotel.

Underway to get the night softball league on by June 6, at the Cotton high school. According to the present arrangement, the first games will be played on the high school diamonds at 6:15 o'clock on the above date. Seven teams have already entered the league this season.

Indications, in accordance with the entry lists, are that some evenly matched games are to be played. Sponsors promise the spectators some more exciting times at the softball diamonds this year.

Strong Competition

The U. S. O. has entered the league this year. This entry will be represented by a softball team from the Sedalia Army Air Field, otherwise, a different team may be on the field for the U. S. O. each week. Other entries who participated last season are: Rosenthal's, Reclaimers, Sacred Heart, S. A. F. Officers. Each team is expected to present its usual strong lineup.

Two other new comers to the League are: Pepsi Cola and the Missouri Pacific Carmen. The personnel of the team is not definitely known, but managers of the two aggregations promise some stiff competition.

The team of S. A. F. Officers will be composed of officers who reside in Sedalia. Those interested in the group and who desire to play can contact Captain Robert W. Elliott, whose phone number is 1126.

Spectators are cordially invited to attend the games. There isn't any admission charge, nor is any collection taken at the games.

Sport Scraps
 (By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

DOWN at Tipton, I am wondering if the "old timers" remember George Hert who played baseball with the old Tipton Merchants—it was before World War I—and he was a catcher. The other day I had the pleasure to visit with George up in Kansas City and he reminisced about some of the old boys he played with, and watched play before he took up the National pastime sport.

He recalled the names of Jimmy "Dago" Chapman, a shortstop; Louis Champan, who was also a catcher; Stanley Tucker, who was an outfielder; Oscar Caldwell, left fielder, and Rickard, who played first base.

"I remember Jimmy Chapman, who was a southpaw and a baseball playing fool. I believe he ended up with the St. Louis Browns as a left-handed pitcher, and he was good," Hert told me.

He remembers Joe Tucker, but not so well as the "older" boys. I enjoyed telling him of Tucker's experience in the old Central Missouri League of which the Sedalia Athletics was a member at one time along with the Tipton Merchants. Tucker now is managing the Tipton baseball team for pastime and is having some fun out of that.

You Sedalia fans can remember Tucker. He umpired here, some thought he was good and those who always had a good gripe, gave him the dickens, and Tucker finally quit working behind the plate on the Sedalia diamond. "I can't please 'em all," Tuck said when he umpired up here.

We all liked him and he was a good baseball supporter.

HERT is now a decorator up in Kansas City and advertises himself, "Decorations of Distinction, 20 years of satisfactory service." Hert, for a time during his decorating business, quit and went with the Kansas City police department, and worked there for five years as a patrolman and later as a city detective. Politics ended his career as a police officer, because he happened to be a Democrat, he told us.

But Hert said he wanted to be remembered to some of the "old timers"—those boys who played ball just before World War I and those who played with a couple of years after the war, before he went to Kansas City. He recalled Sedalia's own Earl "Potts" Evans, Leroy "Dutch" Kirchoffer, Harold Schwenk, Tommy Delph, Drummond Brown, and many more.

Hert had quite a baseball career himself. After leaving Tipton he went to the West Coast, played in Los Angeles, and with other coastal teams, also with the Kansas City Blues, besides the old Tipton Merchants.

"BILL" WALKER, who for several years has umpired baseball games at Liberty Park, has assumed the duties as manager of the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion Junior baseball team. He replaces Cecil Glenn, who handled the team with credit for the past number of years.

Walker has some different ideas about the club, and already has started training the boys to his fancy. He hopes to see the team entered in the State Legion tournament to be held in St. Louis at Sportsman Park, this year.

The Junior Legion team is fortunate in having Walker to succeed Glenn, who has produced a number of excellent teams from Sedalia.

THIS brings to my attention that the Liberty Park baseball park—according to information given this desk—has been sadly neglected this season. The grass is high in the outfield, the diamond needs considerable attention, so I pass on to the new members of the Park Board, to give this your immediate attention.

Who knows the Junior Legion may want to play ball out there, and certainly we don't want them to have a ragged background. Sedalia ball fans are used to seeing a fairly well-kept ball park, so let's not neglect it because of the war conditions.

In other words, don't use the war for an excuse for a poorly kept baseball park.

Reports Suitcase And $50 Missing

A suitcase containing several suits and other items of clothing and $50 in cash in a small cardboard box was reported missing to the police department Saturday morning by Walter Bockelman, of Cole Camp.

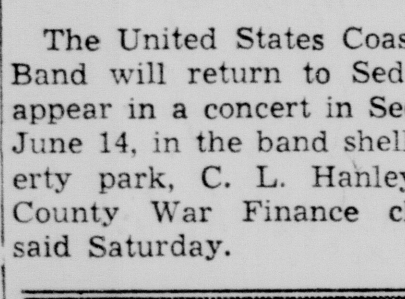

Bockelman had arrived in Sedalia Thursday on a bus from Centertown; after a wait of about 30 minutes, he took a second bus to Windsor Junction. When he arrived at the latter place he discovered that he did not have one of his several suitcases.

Granted Stay On Fine In Police Court

Ross Huston Curry, of Longwood, was assessed a fine of $5 in police court by Magistrate C. W. Bente Saturday morning, when he appeared on charge of drunkenness. He was granted a stay of execution with the provision that he would report to the draft board, since he was among those men who were to leave for pre-induction examination Friday night.

Coast Guard Band Returning

The United States Coast Guard Band will return to Sedalia and appear in a concert in Sedalia, on June 14, in the band shell at Liberty park, C. L. Hanley, Pettis County War Finance chairman, said Saturday.

George R. Rachford

The band is directed by George R. Rachford, Chief Musician, who is a native of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The 32-piece band was organized June 1, 1942, to provide entertainment for the Coast Guard units in the district. On March 1, 1943, it was officially recognized by Coast Guard headquarters and on the same date Rachford was assigned as director. He is assisted by Eddie Bayer, musician first class.

"The band did not just grow," according to Lieut. R. W. Brown, morale and welfare officer and supervisor. "It's versatility and ability to play classical numbers, military music and swing with equal ease demonstrate its careful planning and able directorship in true Coast Guard tradition."

Jr Legion To Boonville Today

The Junior Legion baseball team, will meet the Missouri Training School baseball aggregation on the latter's diamond in Boonville, this afternoon. The Legion team is now under the management of "Bill" Walker.

Fresh from a victory over the Smithton Hornets, which team defeated the Training School team at the opening of the season, the Legion aggregation feels confident they will add another victory to their already growing list.

Kurowski Hits Two Homers For Cardinals

Take First Game Of A Four-Game Series With The N. Y. Giants

NEW YORK, May 27—(P)—In a game enlivened by four home runs, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Giants in the opening contest of a four-game series, 6-4, before 8,582 paying customers, today.

George (Whitey) Kurowski hit two circuit clouts for the Cardinals, his second in the seventh inning with one on, accounting for the winning runs. Pepper Martin hit a home run in the first inning.

Mel Ott hit the lone Giant homer in the seventh inning, his sixth of the season, placing him in a tie for the lead with Howard Schultz of the Dodgers and Kurowski.

Thanks to the homers, the Cards go off to a three-run lead in the fourth, fifth and sixth to tie the game.

Kurowski's winning blow came off Crip Polli, who had replaced Cliff Melton in the sixth inning. George Munger received credit for the victory, although he needed help from Harry Cumbert in the seventh.

Twilight Tear Wins At Belmont Park

NEW YORK, May 27—(P)—Twilight Tear, three-year-old filly from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, won her seventh straight race today in accounting for the 28th running of the Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park.

The Calumet Miss, prohibitive choice in a field of five other fillies of her age, took an early lead and never was seriously threatened as Conn McCreary brought her to the finish wire five lengths in advance of Dare Me from Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable. Plucky Maud from the Lazy F ranch trailed by another four lengths in third place.

Twilight Tear paid the shortest price of the New York season, returning $2.20, $2.30 and $2.10 across the board. Her time of 2:21 for the mile and three-eighths was nearly seven seconds off the track record held by man O'War.

Open Squirrel Season June 1

Ammunition Dealers Have A Fair Supply Of .22 Caliber Shells

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 27—(P)—The squirrel season will open June 1 in Missouri with good prospects for hunters who have ammunition. Reports from wildlife conservation agents throughout wooded sections of the state indicate a good carry-over of brood stock from last year and an excellent crop of young squirrels just now reaching frying size.

Some ammunition dealers have received limited quantities of .22 caliber ammunition, and fewer shot gun shells, but not enough generally to take care of applications from farmers, who have first priority. To date none has been received for sportsmen, although federal war production officials have indicated that some ammunition would be made available this year for the harvest of game crops.

The Conservation Commission has no further information on the subject, other than that in many sections of the state the squirrels certainly need thinning out. As was the case during the last quail season, it is believed that many sportsmen by sharing and trading will be able to find sufficient ammunition to do some hunting.

Squirrel regulations are unchanged since last year. Hunting may be done by shotgun, rifle or pistol, but only between the hours of sunrise and sunset. Daily bag limit is six squirrels, possession limit nine. A state or county permit is required of all hunters, regardless of age, unless hunting on land where they reside. The season will close Oct. 31.

Browns Win—Move Back To Second Place

Jack Jakucki Allows Four Hits To Boston; Team Mates Get 7

ST. LOUIS, May 27—(P)—The St. Louis Browns moved back to second place today by defeating the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2 behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Jakucki.

The Red Sox scored once in the first inning when George Metkovich opened the game with a triple and crossed the plate on the infield out, and picked up another counter in the second on a walk, stolen base and an error.

The Browns kept pace with the visitors in the first two frames, went ahead with a single run in the third, and added another in the seventh for safety.

George Woods, who relieved Stan Partenhimer in the second, was charged with the loss.

Hint From President The Invasion Near

Would Call It Liberation He Says In Conference

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt dropped a hint Friday that the Allied offensive against Europe is not far off, saying the actions coming off this summer ought to be called the liberation rather than the invasion of Europe.

In a news conference, Mr. Roosevelt also said he hoped to have another conference with Prime Minister Churchill but was indefinite as to the time.

Asked if he expected to see the British leader this summer, he said in the summer, the fall or the late spring.

"Why not winter?" a reporter asked.

He didn't like to travel, particularly on the Atlantic, in the winter, Mr. Roosevelt replied.

It was not developed whether Mr. Roosevelt, by saying the late spring, meant this year or next—which would be after the inauguration of the president elected next fall.

In a discussion of post-war planning, Mr. Roosevelt said ideas for a post-war plan for over-all security have been reduced to a rough draft and, in response to a question, that he was finding Russia a satisfactory and cooperative collaborator.

The whole discussion began with a reference to a recent editorial in the Washington Post.

Calling invasion "a common or garden episode in warfare," the editorial said the assault upon Hitler's Europe was far more than that.

"Word of Heart"
"It is liberation," it added. "That is a word of the heart. Let us then call this invasion the liberation—the end and not the means, the civilizing purpose and not the military mission, the war aim and not the battle operation."

Mr. Roosevelt said he heartily agreed.

He went on to speak of liberation as more than the military operation and recalled reading recently that it was late in the summer of 1918 before this country began a study of post-war problems.

This time, he said, we are taking up the problems and making specific recommendations or plans. There was the international food conference last year, the recent international labor office conference, and he has called a monetary conference for July.

In other words, he remarked, we are making far greater progress in this war than we did in the last.

A reporter put in that Secretary of State Hull had said this country was further advanced than others on study of post-war over-all security, and asked if Mr. Roosevelt agreed.

The President said he thought that was probably true.

The subject had been discussed, he said, at the Teheran and Cairo conferences—his meetings with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, and with Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek respectively.

While ideas have been put into a rough draft, the President said, he would no more think of giving out a rough draft of that sort than he would a rough draft of one of his speeches.

leader of the dairy project, and Louise Kindle and Eldon Eubank were appointed as a program committee for the next meeting, which will be at the Lewis home.

Refreshments were served to the members and the following guests: Nellie Mae Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eckhoff and children, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eubank and Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis.

One of America's outstanding aerial artists, comely Mildred Pyle, will be seen here when Dailey Bros. Three Ring Circus, one of only three big circuses in the world traveling by rail this season, presents performances at Liberty Park in Sedalia, Saturday, June 3.

Miss Pyle is one of a bevy of beauties who present a daring and artistic aerial ballet in the very top of the huge big top as one of the many features of the two-hour program. Performances start at 3 and 8 p. m.

Daily Brothers To Have Many Outstanding Acts

As evidence that a circus is like one big family, there are four very young infants with their parents on the Dailey Bros. Railroad Circus. This leads to the question of what becomes of children with the circus.

Very seldom is a performer alone on a circus. They come in couples, or brother and sister teams, or in entire families. The children with the circus are properly trained and educated—the chief trouble is that they may be spoiled by too much petting by the rest of the company.

Two of the headliners with the Dailey Circus who are sure to score a hit when the show exhibits in Sedalia, Saturday, June 3, are little Norma Davenport, only thirteen years of age, and Dainty Mildred Pyle, still in her teens.

Norma is cute, intelligent, ambitious, energetic and polite, being gracious to all. A perfect little lady, the fact that she is the subject of much publicity because of being a real prodigy, does not spoil her. She likes to meet children of the cities where the show exhibits, and is not conceited. Her favorite pets are the ten huge elephants which she trained and works. Her father and mother are both with the show.

Pretty Mildred Pyle is an extremely clever trapeze performer and is the outstanding aerialist in the company of feminine stars with the Dailey Show. Mildred is totally unafraid, is the personification of gracefulness and has a wonderful personality. Endowed with a perfect figure, all eyes are upon her as she executes many dangerous and difficult aerial stunts. Both Norma and Mildred love their work. For them it is mere play. They are voluntarily

Australian Bride

Miss Louise Starkey of Indianapolis, Ind., and Warrant Officer Thomas E. Wilson, stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field, a Troop Carrier Command base, will be married on Friday, June 2 at the base chapel.

Miss Starkey's sister, Miss Catherine Starkey, will serve as her bridesmaid and Sgt. Wendell L. Mann of the Sedalia Army Air Field band of which Mr. Wilson is director, will be best man. The ceremony will be performed by Chaplain Willis E. Lewis, base chaplain, and the nuptial music will be played by a string ensemble.

A native of Indianapolis, Miss Starkey met Mr. Wilson while they were music students at the Central Normal school at Danville, Ind. The prospective bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Wilson of Lafayette, Ind.

After the wedding service the couple will depart for a short honeymoon and upon their return will make their home in Sedalia.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Dick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Dick, 615 West Fifth street, and Ensign Herman Logan, who is stationed at Opolochka Base, Miami, Fla., were married at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, May 16, at the base chapel with Chaplain Conack performing the double ring ceremony. Ensign Logan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Logan, 422 East Eleventh street.

Attendees for the wedding were Miss Marjorie Rice of Sedalia, who made the trip to Miami with Mrs. Logan, and Ensign Gilbert Tracy of Vermont.

The bride wore a white crepe dress with a sweetheart neckline. Her accessories were of purple and her corsage was of orchids. Miss Rice, maid of honor, wore a purple dress with fuchsia accessories and a corsage of roses.

After the ceremony the bridal party and a group of Ensign Logan's friends assembled for a wedding supper at the Flagler Gardens in Miami.

The bride received her education at Sacred Heart school and was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1943.

Ensign Logan was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1941. While in high school he was active in football and basketball.

After graduation he was employed at the Missouri Pacific shops. Ensign Logan enlisted in the Naval Air Corps in 1942 and was called to service in January 1943. He went to Iowa City for C. P. T. training, from there to Atlanta, Ga., where he took preflight training. His primary training was taken at Olathe, Kas., and he received his commission as ensign at Corpus Christi, Texas, April 13, 1944.

The banquet was served on the third floor of the building, buffet style. The table on which the food was placed was centered with a bowl of white iris on either side of which were white candles. The table was covered with a lace cloth. Two long tables, at each of which twenty-two places were set, were covered with lace table cloths. Three large bowls of cut flowers decorated each table.

Special guests were Jean Rice, yeoman in the WAVES, Mr. and Mrs. Okee Rice and children, Bobby and Betty.

Mrs. Zink and Miss Howerton were each presented with a piece of monogrammed luggage by the group.

Mrs. R. L. Weinrich was hostess at a crystal shower at her home, 310 West Fifth street, Wednesday night, May 17, in honor of Mrs. Robert M. Zink, the former Miss Emilie Clark, whose marriage took place the following Friday.

A pink and white color motif was carried out in the refreshments and decorations. A crystal epergne in Rose Point pattern bearing pink candles and lilies-of-the-valley in the vases centered the lace-covered table, which also held the gifts wrapped in pink and white.

Mr. Naugel is from Cordon, Iowa. For the past three years he has resided in Sedalia where he is manager of the Kresge store.

The couple have purchased a home at 645 East Thirteenth street which is now being remodeled.

Miss Lucine Perriguy entertained at a shower Tuesday night at her home 2007 West Broadway in honor of Miss Fay Howerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Howerton, 1534 South Grand avenue, whose marriage to Pfc. Jack Faber of the Sedalia Army Air Field will take place June 4.

Games were played during the evening with awards going to Miss Ruth Wasson, Mrs. Maurine Page, Mrs. C. L. Swift and Miss Dorothy Shafer.

Other guests were Misses Helen Engler, Nadine Spiser, Dorothy Bruns, Ruth Lower, Betty Lou Standfield, Fern Thomas, Edith Crafton, Helen Jolly, Iris Scott, Rayne Perriguy and Dorothy Perriguy, Mrs. Adaline Jeffries, Mrs. Kathryn Miller, Mrs. Dave Patton, Mrs. Elvis Howerton, Mrs. George Arbuckle, Mrs. Robert Zink and Mrs. Howerton, mother of the bride-elect.

A large angel food wedding cake decorated with white frosted rosebuds was cut at the table where the gifts were placed. Red, white and blue streamers extending from a chandelier formed a decorative arrangement.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. R. B. Perriguy.

Miss Dorothy Lee Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard of North Quincy avenue, and William Raymond Sands, P. R., third class, U. S. N., who is stationed at Glenview, Ill., were married at 11:30 o'clock last Tuesday morning by the Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer at his home, 908 South Ohio avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sands of West Sixteenth street.

Attendees at the ceremony were Mrs. Virgil Gatewood, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Harry Meyer.

The bride wore a gold colored suit with accessories to match. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Grandview where they will reside. Mr. Sands has been in the navy for two and a half years.

Mrs. Robert L. Brauns, the bride of Capt. Brauns, of the SAAF, who before her marriage March 14 was Miss Loretta Mavis Haigh, of Sydney, Australia. She wore a white marquisette gown embroidered in white velvet roses, with a fingertip veil. Her arm bouquet was of white roses. Capt. and Mrs. Brauns reside at 302 East Seventh street.

"Lovely Aussie Lassie On Final Lap of 10,000-Mile Trip to Altar," was the caption over a "Nassau Daily Review" newspaper article in the early part of March. The "lovely Aussie lassie" to which the article referred is the attractive wife of Capt. Robert L. Brauns, of the Troop Carrier Command, stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field. The couple resides at 302 East Seventh street.

The 23-year-old captain met "Laurie" in Australia in January, 1943, while she was working as a secretary at the American military headquarters in her home city, Sydney. Apparently it was another case of "love at first sight," for though Capt. Brauns was only in Sydney for a short business trip, they kept in touch with each other until he received a leave in April of that year. During the leave he "popped the question" and gave her the lovely diamond mounted in platinum.

Continuing his service as a pilot of a C-47 transport plane in New Caledonia to supply the Solomon Islands and to aid in evacuation, he was promoted from first lieutenant to captain, serving later in the New Hebrides for some two months, taking his rest leaves always in Australia. Men in some of the outfits kept account of the number of their missions, but Capt. Brauns went on such long journeys with his men that he couldn't count the number of missions, though he does have to his credit more than 1,000 hours of overseas flying with the famed 13th Troop Carrier Squadron.

Has Many Awards For extraordinary achievements he received the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and an oak leaf cluster for each of these. Saturday morning in review at the SAAF he was awarded by Col. McCauley another oak leaf cluster for each medal.

Sharing in his honors, of course, was his fiancée, Miss Loretta Mavis Haigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haigh of Bondi,

Grand March at Festival

Will Cloney of Hotel Bothwell was host at a dinner in the Palm room there Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. John Green and Mrs. James Pittman of Houston, Texas, who are guests of Mrs. Green's brother, Harry Skinner of Hughesville.

Other guests at the dinner were Mrs. William B. Mackey, Mrs. Joseph Kelly, Mr. Skinner, T. W. Cloney and T. W. Cloney II.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Pittman, who have been visiting Mr. Skinner for a week, will leave in several days to return to Houston.

ment. Only by application and a large numbers, and the kangaroo application, could a permit to marry be obtained.

Undaunted, the captain simply put his bride-to-be on a Swedish liner and she traveled around the globe to New York, landing quite some time after he had returned by plane and was stationed at the SAAF on February 26.

Boarding ship February 4, she arrived on March 3 at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig F. Brauns, Garden City, Long Island. Mrs. Brauns helped "Laurie" assemble her trousseau and make arrangements for the ceremony. She was delighted to find she could purchase all the clothing she needed without having to give up precious coupons as she had done in Australia where garments are rationed.

Exchanged Vows Came March 14 and the two exchanged vows at the Cathedral of the Incarnation in Garden City. The Rev. Irving S. Pollard, a friend of the bridegroom, now a chaplain in the merchant marine, officiating. There followed a reception, about 90 guests in attendance, at the Garden City Country club.

They came immediately to Sedalia.

The bride, one year her husband's junior, speaks fluently in the vernacular of her country and in her cordial manner heartily endorses Sedalia, with "its friendly people and pretty homes."

An attractive figure, with auburn hair and hazel eyes, her favorite pastime has long been dancing. In 1940 she and her partner, Bill Freeman, won the Australian championship cup for ballroom dancing, and she has danced in a number of state contests.

It was suggested, "Perhaps you would like to give dancing lessons in your spare time." Laughingly, she replied, "Most of my time is taken in cooking and housekeeping."

Comparisons

She tells interestingly of some of the differences she has found most striking between this country and hers. Houses in Sydney have fences around them—tall fences the pedestrian cannot easily see over. The roofs of the homes are covered with red tile in nearly every instance. "It seems strange to see the lawns of the homes here unfenced," she said.

She was presented a bouquet of peonies and Oriental poppies from one of Sedalia's gardens, neither of which she had ever seen. Principal flowers in Australia, she informed, are roses and carnations, and the national flower, waratah, a red tree blossom on a long stem. The gum tree and pine grow in places. Only by application and a large numbers, and the kangaroo application, could a permit to marry be obtained.

She was surprised to find that American movie theaters are arranged with the most desirable seats on the first floor; choice seats in Australia's ultramodern theaters are in the balconies. Speaking of movies, she herself starred in a motion picture short last Christmas. It was a morale-building picture sent to fighting men at the front for the Yuletide season.

In regard to wartime conditions, she finds rationing of food more extensive here, the only commodities on the ration list in Australia being butter, tea, meat and sugar. Very little canned food is consumed.

McArthur in High Regard

Several times Mrs. Brauns has seen General MacArthur, and she assures that everyone holds him in exceptionally high regard. Of American men in general, she affirmed, "Australian girls think they have a great deal of finesse." With a twinkle in her eye and a gesture at the captain, she added, "The American influence runs high."

She was asked for a comparison of newspapers. Sydney morning papers carry advertisements on the front page—not large merchandise ads but "personals" and "lost and founds" with the news spread on the inside. Evening editions are somewhat like U. S.

papers except that they carry only one very small cartoon, not many big ones.

Cosmetics and toiletries, especially fingernail polish, are much in demand in Australia, she said, coming mostly from America. "Women here wear their dresses much shorter than they do there, though styles are becoming somewhat adapted to American lines."

Her education was received at Holy Cross college in Sydney where she studied typing and shorthand and received secretarial training. She has found considerable difference in the school systems of the two countries. In Australia one goes to school until he has received final certificates in all the required subjects—there is no formal graduation.

Capt. Brauns was for two years a student at Colgate in New York, enlisting as an air cadet in September, 1941. Before that he had liked to play football and to go skiing in the White Mountains. He received his training at Cimarron Field, Okla., Kelly Field, Tex., and at Randolph Field, the West Point of the Air. For a time he served at Pope Field, N. C., under Col. Jerome B. McCauley, now at the SAAF, before the latter went overseas.

"Laurie" and "Bob" have post-war plans. The captain wants to keep on flying, if not in the army, as a civilian pilot. His bride wants to be with her husband, wherever he is.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Boatcher entertained with a buffet supper at their home, 1203 East Ninth street, Wednesday night in honor of their son, Seaman Second Class Olan Boatcher, on leave from the navy, and his bride, the former Miss Nadine Vansell.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Boatcher, Seaman Second Class and Mrs. Olan Boatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Teeter, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Decker and children, Dorothy, Barbara and Donnie, Mrs. Walter Gibson and nephew, Eldon Miller, Mrs. James Hall and Mrs. Otto Boatcher.

Mrs. J. B. Lyman, 217 East Sixth street, is leaving for a two months' visit in Oklahoma with her daughters, Mrs. Sterling Wiles and Mrs. Wilbur Pritchett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Curry, 1601 South Barrett avenue, whose daughter, Miss Juanita Curry, graduated in nursing from Washington university, St. Louis, attended the commencement exercises at the Field House Thursday morning. Miss Curry will return home late in June.

Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Jake Marcum, of Otterville, who were married April 29 by the Rev. A. H. Wood at his home in Otterville are shown with their attendants, the bride's sister, Miss Marie Rogers, and the bridegroom's brother, Marion Marcum.

A bowl of flowers was the centerpiece for the table.

Twenty-four members attended the meeting.

Miss Emilie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Creston M. Clark, 520 East Fifth street, and Pfc. Robert Zink, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Zink, 1518 Hammersley avenue, Bronx, N. Y., were married at 7 o'clock Friday evening, May 19, at the Calvary Episcopal church in a candlelight service. The Rev. Fordyce E. Eastburn, rector, officiated.

The bridegroom is stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field.

Mrs. Helen Bohling Lyle of Knob Noster, a friend of the bride, served as matron of honor and Cpl. Douglas Washburn, Brooklyn, N. Y., acted as best man.

The bride wore a blue linen suit in blue with white accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Lyle's attire was a butcher linen suit of rose color with white accessories and white carnation corsage.

Following the nuptials a wedding dinner was served to friends of the couple at the bride's home.

They are residing for the present at the Clark home, following a short honeymoon trip.

Jews Celebrate Giving of Law

Today the Feast of Shavuot commemorating the Giving of the Law on Mt. Sinai will be celebrated in all Synagogues. Orthodox congregations will also observe the day following. In modern times the festival is marked by a widely observed Confirmation Service for children paralleling the Biblical injunction to bring the first fruits to the altar.

The perennial significance of the holiday, for its Jewish observers and for the world at large, lies in the traditional Jewish emphasis upon law as the basis of order, liberty and justice. Although frequently referred to by the misnomer legalism, Judaism recognizes law as the guarantee of all freedom. Without law there can be no liberty. The festival proclaims that the only sane government is a government of laws and only true protection against the violence of the mob and the whims of the dictators is law, clearly enunciated in statutes and conscientiously observed by the state and its subjects.

A Lot of People Are "From Missouri"

We believe that the old adage about people from Missouri liking to be shown is pretty true. Anyway, we have hundreds of patrons who dine here every day who don't believe in taking anything for granted. These people—and numbered among them are many of Sedalia's business, civic and social leaders—compare and weigh values before they place their business. They have found, through comparison, that—day in and day out—our woman cooked food pleases them more than any other restaurant fare. In fact, it hardly belongs to that classification; it's more like home food, only it's served downtown.

They've found out something else, too: that our superior food costs them no more than they'd pay elsewhere for food not nearly as good.

These are facts which you can prove to yourself, if you happen to be a person who likes to compare values. Compare the flavor, the quality and the price of your food with what you've been getting elsewhere, and you'll discover that Kueck's food offers you more enjoyment and value than any food you've ever bought before.

MEMORIAL DAY 1944

Memorial Day is set apart to do special honor to those who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country, and for the lofty ideals for which America stands.

When we compare their ordeal with our own petty inconveniences, which we sometimes accept none too graciously, it puts us to shame.

Let us remember the immortal words of Lincoln: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that those dead shall not have died in vain."

Miss Mabel R. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Anderson, of Urbana, Ill., and Mr. James
F. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.
E. Boyd, of Knob Noster, were married Sunday, May 21, in the Universalist church in Urbana, by the Rev. Argyl Houser, pastor.
The double ring ceremony was read in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends.
The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. W. A. Ferguson, of Urbana, as matron of honor, and Edward Shirley, of St. Louis, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length dress of white lace and marquisette. Her small flower hat had a short veil and she wore long gloves. Her arm bouquet was of shatter carnations.
The matron of honor wore a blue mouseline de sole with a flower hat and carried spring flowers in pastel shades.
Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was given at the Anderson home for the immediate families.
The bride attended Missouri Valley College in Marshall and for the past two years has held a secretarial position at the University of Illinois.
Mr. Boyd was a graduate from the Knob Noster high school in 1937 and from the Missouri Valley College in 1941. He has since been employed as a chemist at the American Zinc Company in St.
Louis.
Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, the bridegroom's parents, attended the wedding.

Wheat Rallies In Late Dealings
CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—Wheat futures showed a heavy undertone from the start today, rallied as short covering entered the market in the final minutes of trading, and were firm at the close. There was a big trade in rye but the market was erratic with July strong and the deferred months easy at the close.
Action of a senate committee in approving an increase in the maximum on government loans from $5 to $5 per cent of parity had little influence on the wheat market, traders said, because the measure lacks administration support. Should the increase be granted, they added, it would make for a bullish market and narrow the scope of market flexibility.
At the close of trading wheat was unchanged to 3/4 higher than yesterdays, finish, July, $1.01 1/4-1.02. Oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July 75c.
Rye was 1 1/2 lower to 1 1/2 higher, July $1.11 1/4-1.12. Barley was down 1/4 to 1 cent, July 1.20.

Recovery Week On Stock Market
NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—The stock market ended another recovery week with merchandising and specialty issues bid up 1 to 3 or more points while many leaders either did nothing or slipped into the minus column.
Throughout the six sessions there was a revival of investment demand based mainly on earnings, dividends, cheering war news and the belief invasion selling was out of the way.
The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 of a point Saturday and on the week held a net gain of
.8 at 52.9, which equaled the peak of last March 23. Sizeable out-of-town orders put turnover at 415,000 shares.

Sedalian is Home After Invasions

Salerno Was Toughest of All, He Declares

Carl Dedrick, gunner's mate, 2/c U. S. Coast Guard, has just returned from the Mediterranean area of operations, and is on a thirty day leave which he is spending with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dedrick, 1201 East Twelfth street.

Young Dedrick has been in the Coast Guard for four years and in foreign service for the past twenty-seven and a half months. He has been in five amphibious landings. He was in the invasion of Tunisia, Sicily, on which he made four landings, Salerno and the Anzio beachhead. "The invasion of Salerno was by far the toughest of them all," the young man said.

For seven and a half months before going to Africa he was in submarine patrol in the Caribbean sea.

He said that the Red Cross is doing everything possible for those in service and the WACs over there are doing a wonderful job.

Jack Dedrick

Mr. and Mrs. Dedrick have another son in service, Jack Dedrick, radioman 2/c U. S. Coast Guard, who enlisted two years ago and has been in foreign service fourteen months.

Their Duties

Lieutenant Commander Edward C. Thompson, Jr., who was the commanding officer of the ship on which Carl Dedrick saw duty and who commanded the ship until August 1943, told in an article in the USCG Patrol magazine of the invasion of Sicily in which they took part.

"Our job was to precede the fleet to locate a certain designated beach. We approached in the darkness, just sneaked in silently and anchored," said Commander Thompson. "Then with lights which couldn't be seen from the darkness ashore, we signaled information to the ships which followed us. The Italians certainly were taken by surprise because we were not fired upon. Finally two searchlights stabbed through the night and picked us up, but we swung the stern shoreward so as to make the ship a poor target. It may be that the enemy was confused. There were a great number of ships in the invasion. In the afternoon prior to the invasion you could look in every direction and there were ships as far as the eye could reach. It was a wonderful sight."

Fired Before Dawn

"About an hour before dawn heavy firing began, also air attacks by enemy planes. Then our planes arrived and cleared the sky. After the successful initial parade, our ship left the scene and was assigned to escort ships bringing reinforcements from North Africa to Sicily."

"More interesting and dangerous than the first invasion wave of southern Sicily was when we took part in the invasion of Northern Sicily. My ship brought the first group of landing barges. The job was far more difficult. The coast is rugged and the rivers dry up in summer leaving dry, rocky gulches. That made more difficult the task of moving up heavy guns and supplies. We were under attack by German dive bombers, but we were lucky again," said Commander Thomas. "As a matter of fact as long as I was in command of that ship there were no hits and no casualties suffered aboard."

MFA Luncheon Meeting At Bothwell Friday

Twenty-two representatives of the major processing plants of the M. F. A. attended a luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Bothwell. Post-war planning was the general topic for discussion.

Districts represented, which covered nearly the entire state, were Springfield, Clinton, Shelby and Sedalia.

A. C. Kreisel of Lincoln, president of the Producers Produce company, in Sedalia, one of the M. F. A. units, presided at the meeting.

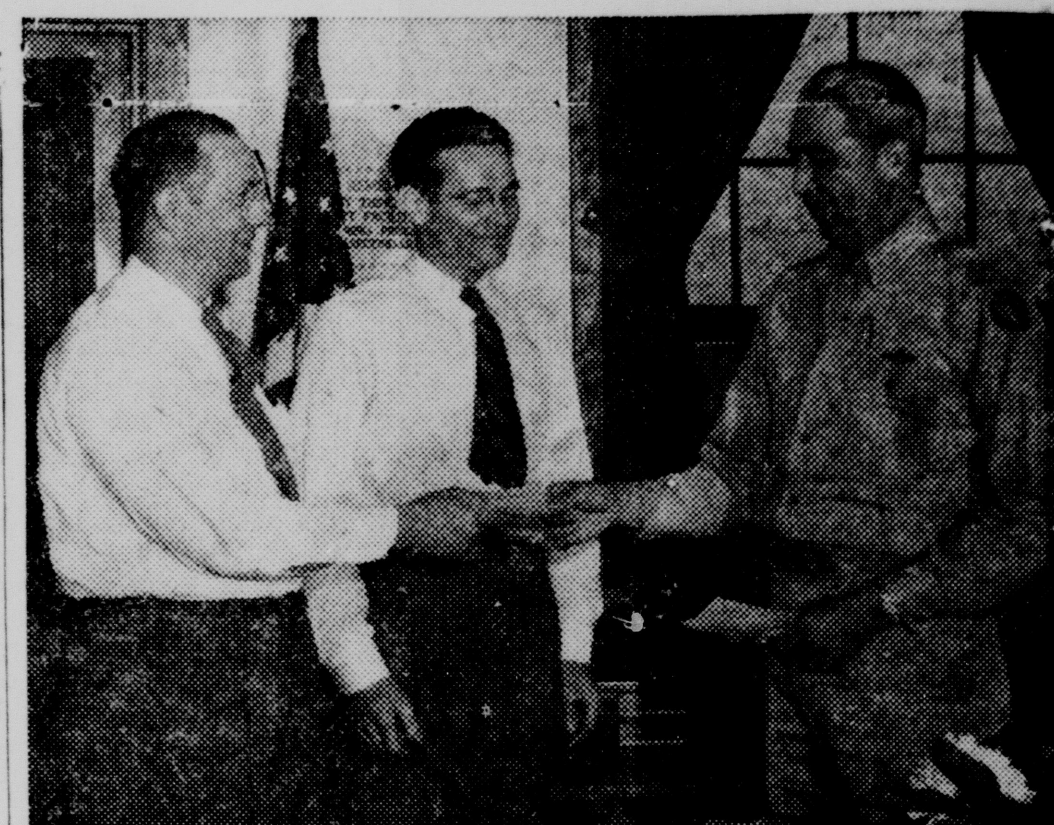

Seaman Son Tells of Ship

Describes Journey And Skirmishes With the Enemy

"It seems you are curious about the ship and what we are doing," began Edward Lewis "Bud" Jones, WT/2c, USNR, on active sea duty for 23 months, in a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, route 1, Sedalia, telling interestingly of some of his experiences aboard ship in the Pacific area.

The letter, addressed "Dear Folks," had been mimeographed and was sent to all his correspondents to avoid the endless task of answering individually the many letters which finally catch up with a sailor after some time away from port.

He described vividly the westward journey and went into detail to relate several skirmishes with the enemy. "Day after day we kept nosing west, and each evening the sun would set directly over the bow in a flare of the most gorgeous red and purple you ever saw. If an artist painted it, nobody would believe him."

Second Easter Abroad

The letter continued, "Day before yesterday was Easter and we had services on board—Mass for the Catholics and Holy Communion for the Protestants. This was the second Easter we've had since we left the states. Last year we were just pulling out of Adak in the Aleutians for our first patrol in the Bering Sea."

"It was cold, but the sun glinted wanly in the white-clad cliff overhanging the black water. Here the sun was hot on Easter, although the gently blowing trade wind lent a little refreshment."
